20% Discount with this Flyer

Future Directions of Strategic Communication

Edited by Howard Nothhaft, Lund University, Sweden, Kelly Page Werder, University of South Florida, USA, Dejan Verčič, University of Ljubljana, Slovenia, and Ansgar Zerfass, Leipzig University, Germany

This book examines the state of strategic communication as a discipline and how it has emerged as a unique area of scholarship in the beginning of the 21st century. Of interest to those studying communication from the perspectives of communication science, management theory, organizational studies, or business administration, this volume will also be useful for readers who are new to strategic communication, and who are interested in the field for its new avenues of research. This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Strategic Communication.

20% Discount Available - enter the code HUM19 at checkout*

Hardback: 978-0-367-27230-2 | Reduced price: £92.00

* Offer cannot be used in conjunction with any other offer or discount and only applies to books purchased directly via our website.

Why should you read this book? Turn the page to see what leading scholars in management, reputation and communications think about this edition!

For more information visit: www.routledge.com/9780367272302
Why you should not miss this book

“A timely edition of collected scholarship on a subject of significant interdisciplinary importance. Emerging scholars have much to draw on here, as do practitioners who are actively seeking out relevant paradigms and frameworks for the work they do in the field.”

Rupert Younger, Director
Centre for Corporate Reputation, Saïd Business School
Oxford University, UK

“This book challenges and disrupts what we know—and what we think we know—in the strategic communication field. It uses theoretically-driven insights to inform novel and adventurous new thought, advancing and challenging us at once. Each chapter adds new value by exploring underutilized and novel topics, to develop a forward-thinking approach to communicating with purpose. This work is a must for any scholar or serious student of strategic communication management.”

Professor Shannon A. Bowen, Ph.D.
School of Journalism and Mass Communications
University of South Carolina, USA

“Future Directions of Strategic Communication is a timely and groundbreaking effort to synthesize the nascent field of strategic communication. It provides expert assessments regarding the current state of the domain and focuses on directions to advance the purposive use of communication. It is a must read for anyone interested in Strategic Communication.”

Professor May O. Lwin, Ph.D.
Wee Kim Wee School of Communication & Information
Nanyang Technological University, Singapore

“This volume is an important landmark that opens up the field of strategic communication to consider the complex, multidirectional and emergent character of communication in organizational settings.”

Professor Dr. Dennis Schoeneborn
Department of Management, Society & Communication
Copenhagen Business School, Denmark

“For more information visit:
www.routledge.com/9780367272302